When autumn comes the students at La Salle-Peru have three organizations of which they are traditionally proud. They are football, cheerleaders and Cavalettes. On these pages are colorful pictures of the boys and girls who put in long hours of practice before they reach the peaks and wear the Red and Green to bring fame to our school both at home and away.

Sadie Hawkins Dance a Blast

Andy Mether has a spare but can some friends get a head out of it. The dance means real unity by the time the South cheerleaders and Cavaliers were out of Thanksgiving Eve to work on it and home.

In McCormack Memorial Library . . .

PROMPTNESS is a way of time from the study hall. Bradley Entwistle presents his library assignment.

Catherine Perry and Sara, Seniors, are fifth period students.

EFFICIENCY is knowing how to use library tools. Above, Roy Rimmer, Rick Lagston and Mark Andracke (having the camera) know the card catalog is the index to the 50,000 volumes in the book collection. Below, Betty McLean, Linda Frechman and Anne Fox have learned that using periodical indexes simplifies the task of finding information in magazines and newspapers.

TRAVELING is visiting far-off places without taking a step from L-P. One's journey may be as extensive as his imagination suggests. Books, magazines and pamphlets may be selected to complement any route one chooses. Janet Zeman and Cathy Stanton find helpful to their journey the large globe presented to the library by the Class of 1944 in reunion.

CULTURE is appreciating the artistic atmosphere of the beautifully appointed reading room. Among the art treasures housed in the library is the "Tunisian Water Carrier" which won the Prix de Rome in 1891. To read the inscription on the base of the bronze, Sharon Huettemann and Anne Fox have only to glance sideways from dictionaries they are consulting.

SERVICE is satisfying the needs and interests of both the faculty and the students. McCormack Memorial Library is considered to be one of the outstanding high school libraries in the state.

SELF-DISCIPLINE is recognizing that the white ropes indicate the stacks are closed to students. Jeff Webrock waits patiently for one of the library clerks to return with the book he requested. Mrs. William Van de Wynaerde, at work behind the circulation desk, and Miss Sybil Cummings share responsibilities at the south desk.

BEING WELL INFORMED is finding out what is going on in the world. A quick look at the headlines keeps Bob Williams, Dan Costello and Ted Samolitis alert to current events at home and abroad.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is checking out materials which are needed for period or overnight use, and returning them on time and in good condition. Carolyn Perry has stamped the date due in a book selected by Nancy Robinson.

Informal Scenes Show

Robert Schmidt and Barbara Parks, 1965, in "The Sound of Music"

In the vocal music department are framed posters, in colorful tempera, recalling the ten musical productions which were directed by Mr. Robert Manahan since he came to La Salle - Peru in the autumn of 1960. The spring musicals by the high school and junior college choruses were: "Oklahoma!" (1961), "South Pacific" (1962), "Bye, Bye, Birdie" (1963), "Fiorello!" (1964), "My Fair Lady" (1965); "I'll Be in the Shade" (1966) and "The Sound of Music" (1967). Four summer stage productions were also presented. They were: "Take Me Along," "The Music Man," "She Loves Mr.," "The Fantasticks."

Mr. Manahan smiles with satisfaction during class meetings.

Hitchhikered Joyce Ricci, learns from Jeff Linder how to play the guitar for her role as Maria in "The Sound of Music."

Sue Kiansek and Joyce Ricci are being coached by Mr. Manahan.

Choral Department Activities

Musicals directed by Mr. Manahan have become traditional features of the school year, because of popularity of choice, excellent casting, expert direction, striking stage settings and professional lighting.

There has always been a heavy demand for tickets, and a climax was reached when "The Sound of Music" was sold out for four night in a two-day period.

The high school choruses—Freshman Boys, Freshman Girls, Mixed and Advanced and the Junior college Collegiate Chorale join in presenting the spring musicals and the leads are chosen from the chorale and the Advanced Chorus.
